

ORION WHOLESALE
BUSINESS MEETS PLEASURE

YOUR SUCCESS IS OUR SUCCESS

And that's been the case since 1985. It started off as a "two-person department" that was responsible for supplying ORION's foreign branches with goods. Today we are one of the most successful erotic wholesale retailers in Europe and we deliver our market-leading labels to customers all over the world between Oslo and Cape Town, and Sydney and Montreal. The secret to our success? We're always here for you and will personally support you and provide you with customised solutions for all sales questions. The result is lots of trusting business relationships – many of which have existed since our company was first founded.

We have also created an own brand label assortment with customer-oriented product developments. This assortment is under strict quality control and now accounts for 50% of the total sales in the Wholesale department - the products are of course in promotional packaging which have various languages on them as well.

We know that many of our products are used in the most intimate areas of the body. That is why we follow the guidelines for children's toys and the strict German quality standards especially when it comes to the production of sex toys.

Our in-house quality management team ensures that the strict criteria is adhered to and regularly works together with well-known laboratories – especially when it comes to the varying guidelines and regulations.

Many of our customers even do without their own quality control because we check every delivery of goods as well as doing the usual returns check. You will get all the information and necessary certificates from us for the sale of the products.

THE HEART OF OUR COMPANY: OUR LOGISTICS

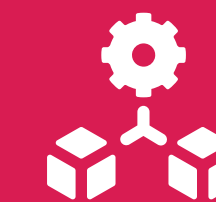

We move eroticism – quickly, flexibly and extremely reliably. We follow this motto by supplying our customers globally in this way. We even do the entire order fulfilment for some large retailers. However, the small orders and pallet orders usually leave our warehouse within one working day as well.

Our flexible high-rack warehouse is the key element of our Logistics department: a standardised, multi-order-picking system, the three pick-to-light systems and the two material flow computers ensure the quick processing of all kinds of orders. ORION AND SUSTAINABILITY

Protecting the environment is sexy

And we want to take active responsibility. That is why it is important to us to incorporate sustainability into the entire life cycle of our products – from how individual items can be recycled right up to how the packaging can be separated. Furthermore, all of our electrical items are registered so that they can become part of the recycling process.

Vegan pleasure

Many of our drug store items are already 100% vegan. Other products in our assortment are following as well – like the new fetish items from the “Vegan Fetish” label. The items are in an original leather look but they don’t contain any animal components.

The packaging is important

Sustainable products are good. Sustainable products in environmentally-friendly packaging are even better. This is why all of our cardboard boxes are completely recyclable. Only recycled paper is used as padding instead of Airplus air cushions and approx. 60% of packaging tape is saved thanks to our new gluing machines.

Sustainability is a process

We know that protecting the environment is a complex topic that is full of challenges. However, we will continue to be sustainable and continue to develop our environmental protection measures – in a future-oriented way and of course in unison with our products and the way we sell them.

THE FUTURE'S AHEAD!

We are the sexperts

We receive all the important information and suggestions from retailers and customers when it comes to eroticism. We also receive valuable knowledge from sex therapists as well. We use all this information and knowledge to optimise our products so that they are even more successful and so that we can develop popular new trends.

Innovative products are important

However, reliable delivery capacity and an optimised flow of goods are also important. We are well-equipped for this thanks to our modern, automatic high-rack warehouse and flexible warehouse logistics.

Personal service remains the most important factor

This is how we are able to guarantee our customers the best possible and customised service in the future. Customer satisfaction is always our biggest motivation. That is why we give our all every single day – in an uncomplicated, fast way and always with smiles on our faces.
